Recent research has found that a staggering 100,000 families of children with disabilities in England and Wales may be experiencing problems with sleep - with no help or support. The Handsel Trust, a national independent charity, is working to put this right.

Gudrun Limbrick is running the London Marathon (13th April 2008), in aid of the Handsel Trust's sleep work. Will you help?

Please give your contact details and let us know how much you will give to the Handsel Trust if Gudrun makes it to the finishing line!
